U. City Centennial Quilt Show

Year-long celebration closes with community project

The City of University City wraps up its year-long Centennial Celebration with a collection of colorful quilts on display November 27 - December 29 in the City Hall rotunda, 6801 Delmar.

Circle in the Square Quilters is a U. City-based quilting guild. In keeping with the Centennial theme, quilters were issued a challenge to produce pieces depicting 'fun things to do in U. City.' When the last threads were cut, six pieces emerged bearing images of a good representation of the eclectic community.

Designed as artwork, instead of function, the one-of-a-kind quilts range in sizes from 30" x 30" to 60" by 60" including:

Fun in U. City, by Dorris McManis

These are a few of my favorite things, by Gwen Clopton

Lewis Park, by Janis B. Friedman

The Delmar Loop, by Cherie Moore

Roadside attraction (the Bunny Project), by Doris McManis

Loop in Motion, by Jan Ochterbeck

SPECIAL EVENT: The public is invited to view the quilts hanging from the magnificent ornate staircase in the city hall rotunda during the Loop Holiday Walk, Noon-5pm Saturday, December 2. Quilts are for exhibit only – the viewing is free.
